Each voter may rank the candidates in order of preference by marking a first preference, second preference, third preference, and any further preferences they wish to express.

A voter shall not be required to rank every candidate.

SECTION H. Votes cast under the Single Transferable Vote shall be counted as follows:

- III. Where no earlier round resolves the tie, a separate tied-candidate ballot shall be held among the relevant electorate; and
- IV. Where the tie remains unresolved, the Head of Justice shall supervise an impartial random selection to determine which tied candidate is eliminated.

Where the Head of Justice is a candidate, is conflicted, or is otherwise unable to supervise the procedure, the Deputy Presiding Judge or another impartial Praetor lawfully appointed for the purpose shall supervise it.

- V. Department of Economy;
- VI. Department of Technology;
- VII. Department of Architecture.

SECTION B. Eligibility, candidacy, confirmation and appointment of Department Heads shall be governed by Articles 6 and 8 of this Constitution.

SECTION C. Each Department shall be headed by a Department Head who should be competent in his field. Appointment as a Department Head automatically creates membership of the Departmental Council. There shall be no separate office of Councillor.

SECTION D. The Departmental Council is the collective government of Arx and shall decide significant national, cross-departmental and strategic matters

SECTION E. A Department Head is permitted to select and appoint up to two managers who aid the Department Head. In case the Head has to be away for some time they need to appoint someone to perform their duties

SECTION K. No person may cast more than one vote in the same Departmental Council poll, even if said person is in temporary holding of more than one office.

A candidate should seek office primarily to advance the work, responsibilities, and development of the Department and not solely to obtain membership of the Departmental Council or wider governmental authority.

A lack of previous service within the Department shall not automatically disqualify a candidate provided they are able to demonstrate sufficient knowledge, commitment, and capacity to lead the Department effectively.

SECTION C. Any serving Praetor may stand for appointment as a Department Head.

A Citizen who is not yet Praetor may also stand, provided that their appointment shall not take effect unless they are granted Praetorship before or alongside their confirmation as Department Head.

A settled matter should not be reopened more than once unless new evidence emerges, circumstances materially change, or the original procedure was unlawful.

SECTION I. The Head of Justice shall recuse themselves from a matter where they are personally involved, directly interested, where the Department of Justice is a principal party and impartially may reasonably be questioned.

SECTION J. The Head of Justice shall nominate a Deputy Presiding Judge from among eligible Praetors, subject to confirmation by simple majority of the Departmental council. The Deputy shall remain in office until resignation, replacement, or lawful removal.

SECTION C. The initial delegated project spending limit shall be one hundred diamonds, or resources and assets of equivalent value as determined under the valuation procedure maintained by the Department of Economy.

SECTION D. Any increase in the delegated limit, being a change that makes financial control less restrictive, shall additionally require approval of the Head of Justice. Justice shall consider procedure, conflicts of interest, anti-corruption concerns, and the proper purpose of the change, and shall provide a brief reason for any refusal.

SECTION E. A refusal by Justice under Section D may be referred to the Praetorian Senate for final review. A reduction in the limit shall require Economy proposal and Council approval but shall not require additional Justice approval.

SECTION F. The project limit applies to the total value of a connected project or course of action including all related purchases, withdrawals, transfers, contracts, and resource commitments by every participating Department.
